INTRODUCTION TO FV 93

The Faroese Business Classification System - Føroysk Vinnugreinaskipan - FV 93 is used, amongst others, by the Faroese Statistical office, the Inland Revenue- Customs and Excise office and Faroe Islands Trade Council for administrative, statistical and other purposes, but has also been intended for other Public and private usage.

FV 93 is also available in Danish and Faroese.

With a few exceptions, FV 93 is identical to the Danish Branch code 1993 - DB 93. Most differences are found within the fishing and the production of fish products, where the Danish Branch code is insufficiently detailed for Faroese conditions. On page 36, there is a summary review of these discrepancies, and with the exception of them, it is possible in cases of doubt to use the Branch description and subject index found in DB 93.

The relationship between International and National branch codes :

CODE SYSTEMS

The code system is divided into two sections, where the one is a 1 or 2 digit lettering code (main divisions), and the other is a figure code consisting of upto 6 digits. The main divisions are shown on page 4, together with relations to the figure codes. Figure codes are illustrated in the example below.
